Sport Touratech

Touratech's new sport-touring inspired tank and tail bags are handcrafted in the Black Forest region of Germany by the master bag and seat builders at Kahedo. Each bag is contoured to fit the unique shape of your motorcycle's fuel tank or tail rack and features zipper expansion sections for additional storage. Many have special compartments designed to hold everything from pens to cell phones. All Kahedo tankbags include clear map pockets that are able to hold an 8 by 11 inch sheet. Most models also feature elastic bungee cords to secure riding gloves, jacket liners, or any other light item. For a closer inspection, check out www.touratech-usa.com.

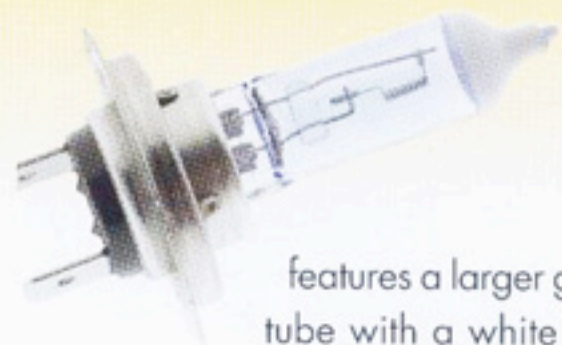

Plug-in Power

Plug-in style cigarette lighters have long been a staple in the automotive industry as the power source for everything from radar detectors and GPS navigation systems, all the way to mini-TVs, computers, and cell phone chargers. Now motorcyclists can enjoy the same level of convenience with the new Handlebar Power Outlet conversion kit from Powerlet. Their AKT model Handlebar Power Outlet is fabricated from durable marine grade materials and designed to function easily even while wearing gloves. Beam Confidently

PIAA's new H7 version of its proven Intense White halogen bulb is a potent upgrade for performance-minded owners of sportbikes, touring bikes, and dual sport bikes. This Intense White bulb produces a brilliant beam without any hint of blue. The H7 bulb also features a larger glass tube with a white top-coat. This combination increases output and allows the bulb to burn at much cooler temperatures, providing the best possible balance between performance and bulb life. To see the light, go to www.piaa.com.

Custom Makes Three

California Sidecar's Custom is a bold and original combination of their Volusia trike and a custom chopper. Standard features include a complete new front-end with polished billet aluminum triple trees that are raked for that chopper look, a carpeted trunk with remote operated hatch release, a custom seat by Saddleman, a trike chassis with upgraded high performance disc brakes and calipers, in addition to matching polished billet aluminum wheels complete with tires. CSC is also offering a choice of two different custom paint schemes in five different color combinations, or the option to purchase the body as a gel coat and have it custom-painted on your own. Strom and Sturdy AltRider's sturdy, new crash bars and skid plate for the Suzuki V-Strom 1000 are excellent ideas for motorcycle adventures. Both pieces integrate seamlessly to protect both on and off road. The crash bars act as steel ribs for the engine's vitals. They take the brunt of falls, drops, or crashes – and the stainless construction means those scratches will never rust. The lightweight, 5-mm anodized aluminum skid plate shields the vulnerable engine, exhaust header, and oil cooler, while matching perfectly to the crash bars by using hidden fasteners. For more information, visit the new AltRider website at www.altrider.com.

Strap Lights

The new Helen TwoWheels Reflective Packing Straps use the same material that has added visibility to the H2W Super Packing System for more than a decade. Each strap in the four-piece system wraps securely around a pillion handle, luggage rack, or frame trellis and feeds back through the loop on the end. The H2W Super Pack Straps are universal and can be used to mount any type of soft motorcycle luggage. For additional information, visit www.helen2wheels.com.
